

Migrate Your IT to onthenetOffice, Get New Workstations, Hardware and Software for Free!

onthenetOffice, a hosted services provider for businesses, announced a major promotion for new clients today. When a business signs up with onthenetOffice during the first quarter of 2013 (by March 31), they will receive brand new workstations and equipment for free.

"The beginning of the year is the perfect time for businesses that are considering moving their infrastructures and data to the cloud to make the move. Private Cloud computing solutions offer major benefits for business owners. It is more cost-effective, reliable and manageable than traditional on-site infrastructures, and it allows employees to access data and applications securely, from anywhere."

Alexander Saca, CEO onthenetOffice

One of the biggest benefits of migrating to onthenetOffice is its quick, hassle-free migration process. There are no capital expenditures or surprise charges; everything is included for a fixed monthly fee. Furthermore, 24x7x365 support comes standard with onthenetOffice.

The migration process begins with a call to onthenetOffice. One of their solution experts will assess the business' current data and infrastructure, understand their future IT goals, and help determine what solution will be best for the business. When that business signs a contract with onthenetOffice, they will receive all necessary upgrades free of charge (certain restrictions do apply) and the onthenetOffice staff will begin migrating their data and systems to the private cloud.

In addition to hassle-free migration, companies that sign up to onthenetOffice will receive new hardware and software free of cost, such as:

- New thin client workstations for all users
- Any other hardware they might require (monitors and keyboards)
